

This is Aunt Jemima's french toast. (And then again, it isn't.)

It's really more yours than ours.
We started with fresh eggs
and fresh milk like yours.
We let our bread get rich with batter. We even browned
it a nice, familiar gold.
But we weren't trying to make it different. We just wanted to make it good.

We've practically stolen your recipe.

F.C. P97
2/73