A SPECIAL MESSAGE

THE TRAGEDIES OF SEPTEMBER 11, 2001 HAVE LEFT US WITH A SENSE OF LOSS AND A NEW REALITY — WE ARE NOW A NATION AT WAR. THIS WAR IS MORE THAN A WAR AGAINST SOME INDIVIDUALS OR EVEN SOME COUNTRIES. THIS IS A WAR THAT AMERICA MUST LEAD, A WAR AGAINST THE CONCEPT OF TERRORISM — TO CONDEMN IT THOROUGHLY, TO PUNISH IT RIGOROUSLY — TO MAKE IT UNTHINKABLE AS AN INSTRUMENT OF NATIONAL POLICY, AS A PURPOSE OF ANY GROUP OR A GOAL OF ANY INDIVIDUAL, TO WIPE TERRORISM OFF THE FACE OF THE EARTH.

IN THIS DIFFICULT TIME, AS A UNIVERSITY OUR SPECIAL GOAL MUST BE TO EDUCATE THE NEXT GENERATION OF LEADERS — TO BE CERTAIN THEY WILL DO EVERYTHING IN THEIR POWER TO CONSTRUCT A WORLD IN WHICH FEAR AND TERROR DO NOT CONTROL OUR LIVES — A WORLD IN WHICH UNDERSTANDING AND COMPASSION ARE MORE PREVALENT THAN ANGER AND SELF-ABSORPTION.

WE HAVE BEEN BOUND TOGETHER AS A NATION BY THE EVENTS OF SEPTEMBER 11, 2001. NOW, I ASK YOU AS A MEMBER OF THE MONMOUTH UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY TO STRIVE WITH ME, MORE DETERMINEDLY, TO ENSURE OUR MISSION OF EDUCATING OUR CHILDREN. WITH YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT, LET US PLEDGE TO THE VICTIMS OF THE UNSPEAKABLE TRAGEDY THAT WE WILL EMBRACE THIS GOAL AND WORK WITH ALL OUR MIGHT TO SEE THAT IT IS ACCOMPLISHED.

REAL ESTATE INSTITUTE RECEIVES $1 MILLION ENDOWMENT AND $100,000 GIFT

Steven Pozycki '73 has established a $1 million endowment and Stephen B. Siegel has donated $100,000 to the University's Real Estate Institute. The surprise announcements were made at the eighth annual Real Estate Institute Dinner that honored Stephen B. Siegel for his contributions to the state and the nation throughout his successful real estate career.

"Steve Pozycki is an esteemed alumnus and Stephen Siegel is a valued friend of the University," said Rebecca Stafford, president of Monmouth University. "Their generosity will create many more opportunities for the Real Estate Institute and will enable us to better prepare people for careers in the industry," she said.

The majority of Mr. Pozycki's gift ($750,000) will be used to fund the Steven J. and Elaine Pozycki Endowed Professorship in Real Estate. The balance will be allocated toward scholarships. Dr. Donald Moliver, director of Monmouth University's Real Estate Institute, was named as the first faculty member to hold the Pozycki professorship. Siegel's gift will be used to advance the Real Estate Institute.

"The Real Estate Institute has benefited tremendously through the support and guidance of Steve Pozycki and Stephen Siegel," said Dr. Moliver. "They both understand the importance of the advancement of the real estate profession and the role it plays in the economic development of New Jersey."

Pozycki is chairman and CEO of SJP Properties, a full-service, commercial real estate firm located in Parsippany, New Jersey. Pozycki is active in several public policy-related and educational causes, serving on the boards of New Jersey Future, a state-wide advocacy and watchdog for New Jersey's pioneering development and redevelopment plan and Liberty Science Center in Jersey City, which is devoted to informal science and technology education through interactive exploration.

Siegel is chairman and chief executive officer of Insignia/ESG, Inc., the nation's third-largest commercial real estate services company. In addition, he is president of its parent company, Insignia Financial Group, Inc. Insignia/ESG has flourished under Siegel's leadership, garnering one of the Real Estate Board of New York's prestigious "Deal of the Year" awards each of the past five years. This is the industry's highest honor and is a feat that no other firm has ever accomplished. Siegel himself has been elected "Brokerage Executive of the Year" by Commercial Property News three years in a row.

GRADUATE PROGRAM IN SOCIAL WORK RECEIVES ACCREDITATION

The Council on Social Work Education has granted Monmouth accreditation for its Master of Social Work degree program. The Council on Social Work Education is recognized by the Council for Higher Education Accreditation as the sole accrediting agency for social work education in this country.

"This accreditation by the Council on Social Work Education validates the hard work of our faculty and administration and is a testament to the quality of our program," said Dr. Mark E. Rodgers, chair of the Department of Social Work and director of the Master of Social Work degree program. "This new status will benefit our graduates and will also help us to attract some of the most outstanding students and faculty in the country."

Monmouth University's Social Work Department includes 13 full-time faculty and a coordinator of field placement. The department's Master of Social Work degree program began in 1998. It offers two concentrations: practice with families and children, and international and community development. The international social work concentration is the only program of its kind in North America, enabling students to complete their fieldwork in developing foreign nations.

The Council on Social Work Education is a nonprofit national association that represents more than 3,000 individual members as well as 158 graduate and 453 undergraduate programs of professional social work education. Founded in 1952, it is made up of educational and professional institutions, social welfare agencies and private citizens.

FORMER DARTMOUTH STANDOUT IS NEW HEAD SOFTBALL COACH

Carol Sullivan has been selected as the new Head Softball Coach. "After an extensive search that included many strong candidates, we felt Carol was the perfect fit for our program," said Marilyn McNeil, director of Athletics. "We feel that she is very capable of building on the success this team has had in the past, both on and off of the field."

Sullivan, a native of Passaic, arrives in West Long Branch after a three-year stint as an assistant coach at Dartmouth College. In 2001, Sullivan helped guide the Big Green to a 23-19 record, a third-place finish in the Ivy League and a second-place finish at the Eastern College Athletics Conference Championships. In 2000, she helped Dartmouth to a 32-16 record and a second-place finish in the Ivy League. It marked the first time in school history that the squad posted back-to-back winning seasons. "I'm excited about the opportunity," Sullivan said. "I'm very happy about returning to New Jersey and I can't wait to build on a program that is already strong. I have seen what this team has done in the past and I look at the roster and see a lot of good regional in-state talent. I hope to increase the visibility of the program so that we can continue to attract some of the best New Jersey talent as well as getting some geographic diversity on the team as we continue to branch out and attract the best possible players."

NEW DEAN OF THE SCHOOL OF BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Frederick J. Kelly, Upper Montclair, has been selected the new Dean of the School of Business Administration.

“Dr. Kelly was chosen to head our School of Business Administration because of his vast experience in higher education and his academic specialization,” said Thomas S. Pearson, provost and vice president for Academic Affairs. “We are indeed fortunate to have an incoming business dean with Dr. Kelly’s record of experience, knowledge, and expertise.”

Before joining Monmouth University Dr. Kelly served as business dean for Roger Williams University. During his career, he has also served as dean of business for other institutions of higher education including the University of Baltimore, Fairleigh Dickinson University, and Seton Hall University.

BIOLOGY STUDENTS ATTEMPT TO SAVE BEACH-NESTING ENDANGERED SPECIES

Four students spent their summer working with state, federal, and volunteer agencies to protect the Piping Plover population. The students assisted biologists with monitoring, nest protection, and public education of endangered piping plovers in the New Jersey coastal towns of Sea Girt, Monmouth Beach, and Sea Bright.

The piping plover is a small bird that breeds on coastal beaches from Newfoundland and southeastern Quebec to North Carolina. It was listed as an endangered species in New Jersey in 1984.

Students Michael Abdelmalek, Benjamin Blanco, Heather McCarthy, and Melissa Savarese are working with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the NJ Department of Environmental Protection, the NJ Division of Fish and Wildlife, and the Conserve Wildlife Foundation (a non-profit agency). The one-credit independent study is part of the Experiential Education program within the School of Science, Technology and Engineering.

ASSITANT DEAN OF PLACEMENT AND STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Will F. Hill, Point Pleasant Beach, has been promoted to Assistant Dean of Placement and Student Employment.

“Will Hill has an impressive track-record of bringing quality employment opportunities to campus,” said Thomas S. Pearson, provost and vice president for Academic Affairs. “Under his direction, hundreds of students and alumni have been placed in professional jobs.”

Hill joined Monmouth in 1977 as director of placement, after serving two years as an assistant director in the career services department of another New Jersey college. While at Monmouth Hill forged strong relationships with the New Jersey business community and significantly expanded the participation of employers in career fairs and recruitment programs. He has also served on and led numerous committees, task forces and other University groups.

Hill holds a bachelor’s degree from St. Peter’s College and a master’s degree from Manhattan College.

NEW DEAN OF ADVISING AND ACADEMIC SUPPORT SERVICES

Dr. Joy Jackson, Neptune, has been selected as the new Dean of Advising and Academic Support Services.

“After a national search, Dr. Joy Jackson was selected based upon her proven leadership, her experience with advising and academic support services, and her expertise in the areas of educational counseling,” said Thomas S. Pearson, provost and vice president for academic affairs. “She is an asset to the program and we look forward to her leadership.”

Before joining Monmouth University, Dr. Jackson was the director of the Academic Advisement Center at Long Island University. Dr. Jackson has also held positions at Rutgers University and Temple University. Her academic background includes research, statistics, the study of human development and theories of learning. She earned a bachelor’s of science degree in Elementary Education from Morgan State and a master’s and doctorate in Educational Psychology from Temple University.

NEW ASSISTANT VICE PRESIDENT FOR STUDENT SERVICES

Debra De Jesus-Prins, MSW, LCSW of Avon-by-the-Sea, has been selected as the new Assistant Vice President for Student Services.

“De Jesus-Prins was selected for the position because of her experience in the academic and specialized areas of higher education,” said Mary Anne Nagy, vice president for Student Services. “We are fortunate to have De Jesus-Prins join the division and look forward to her leadership.”

Before joining Monmouth University, De Jesus-Prins served as the director of performance improvement and evaluation at the University of Medicine and Dentistry. De Jesus-Prins is a member of the National Association of Social Work and spent a considerable amount of her career as a senior manager for Catholic Community Services, Archdiocese of Newark. She prepared both agencies for their accreditation status with the Joint Commission Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations.

De Jesus-Prins is also an adjunct instructor in Monmouth University’s Department of Social Work, where she will be teaching program evaluation and effectiveness and grant writing. She continues to be active in issues related to children and adolescents, serving on the board of directors for a child welfare agency in New York City.

ASSOCIATE VICE PRESIDENT FOR PUBLIC AFFAIRS

Susan A. Doctorian, Middletown, has been promoted to Associate Vice President for Public Affairs. She is responsible for managing government relations, community outreach, and media efforts. Prior to being named associate vice president, Doctorian was director of public affairs, a position that she had held since 1998.

Before joining Monmouth University, Doctorian served as a senior associate at the Princeton Public Affairs Group, a governmental and public affairs firm based in Trenton. Doctorian serves on the Monmouth–Ocean Development Council board of directors, Prevention First board of directors, and the board of governors for the Christine Todd Whitman Excellence in Public Service series. She is also a board member of the Women’s Council for the Cancer Center at Monmouth.

2001 DISTINGUISHED BUSINESS LEADERS' AWARD DINNER HONORING VERNON W. HILL II

The Distinguished Business Leaders' Dinner was held October 18 in Wilson Hall to honor Commerce Bank's Chairman and President Vernon W. Hill. Mr. Hill, pictured here with Lewis M. FOUNDERS' DAY 2001

Meeting the Challenge

BY CATHERINE MOSCARELLO

Unlike the sentiment expressed by 19th century essayist, Thomas Carlyle, who wrote "The true university of these days is a collection of books," Monmouth University celebrates annually at Founders' Day the people who give lifeblood to its mission. Culminating more than six months of intensive planning, the many facets of this special day each October bear testimony to the fact that Monmouth's real strength lies in its devoted trustees, faculty, administrators, alumni, and benefactors.

Closing with a ceremony where awards and honorary degrees are presented to distinguished individuals, the day consisted of a special luncheon, receptions, and meetings with the honorees. This year a dedication ceremony citing three deceased faculty members was part of the proceedings. The University's greenhouse was dedicated to Professor Vernon Chruchill, Room 544 in Howard Hall was dedicated to Professor Marvin Goodman, and Room 232 in Edison Science Hall was dedicated to Professor Robert Rouse.

Selected for the awarding of honorary degrees at this year's ceremony were Jim Donald, president of Pathmark Stores, Inc. who received an honorary Doctor of Laws degree, and Charles T. Parton, immediate-past chairman of the Board of Trustees who received the degree of Doctor of Public Service.

Ronald Kornegay '69 '74, former basketball standout at Monmouth, was honored with the Distinguished Alumni Award. And the Maurice Pollak Award for Distinguished Community Service was given to retired faculty member Dr. Robert M. Rechnitz.

The Pollak award was established in 1983, when the first Founders' Day was held, to single out an individual who has distinguished him/herself by contributions to the region in the areas of philanthropy, civic involvement, and volunteerism.

"Maurice Pollak was a Life Trustee of the University and this award pays tribute to him and to the ideals for which he stood," says Janet Fell, executive assistant to the president and chair of the Founders' Day Committee.

Other highlights of the day included assemblies and discussions with the honorees. Students in the School of Business participated in a panel discussion with Mr. Donald and Mr. Parton. Dr. Rechnitz stepped back into his favorite classroom, the theater, to conduct a seminar in Woods Theater with Communication students and those concentrating in theater arts. Mr. Kornegay's return to campus included a morning session with current students, as well.

It is this annual renewal to promulgate the vision of its founders that keeps Monmouth University alive as more than just "a collection of books." MU

It isn't apparent immediately to most people why Jim Donald, chairman, president and CEO of Pathmark Stores, Inc. says a turtle is his inspiration. He even gives out coveted Turtle Awards to over 9,000 of his Pathmark employees. "The only way a turtle can move forward," says Mr. Donald, "is by sticking its neck out."

Taking that risk to move forward is at the heart of Jim Donald's rise to success. The main speaker at Monmouth's annual Founders' Day, October 10, 2001, the Rumson resident is committed to spreading his philosophy to his many associates and he shared some of his secrets of success with the Monmouth community.

From his boyhood days outside Chicago, Illinois through a retail marketing career that led him to complete his degree in Marketing and Business Administration at the University of New Mexico, Albuquerque, Mr. Donald has always believed in a hands-on, customer oriented approach.

It was this reputation for inspiring sales and earnings growth that prompted the late Sam Walton to hand-pick Mr. Donald to head an initiative for a supermarket business for Wal-Mart.

"I had to turn down two telephone calls from Sam Walton. The first time he called, I was in an airport and had to make a connection. The next time, I was headed out the door to be present at a community event I was participating in, a road race."

Still, in 1991 Sam Walton persisted and hired Mr. Donald to head up Wal-Mart's expansion of six SuperCenters into a 138-store chain. Mr. Donald has participated in the development of Albertson's, Wal-Mart, and Safeway franchises over the last 20 years.

How did Mr. Donald become involved in the retail food industry? "My mom told me to," he replied. "When I was a youngster, she arranged for me to meet the manager of a local grocery store so I could start working as a cashier to help the family finances." Mr. Donald's mother didn't steer him wrong. He began his career in the supermarket business in 1971 as a trainee with Publix Super Markets, Inc. Joining Albertson's in 1976, he quickly rose through its managerial ranks in it Florida, Alabama, and Texas divisions and was head of operations in the very competitive Pheonix area.

"I really stuck out my neck when I left Safeway for Pathmark. (in 1996)." From potential bankruptcy, Mr. Donald has seen Pathmark emerge as a publicly traded company and experience ever-increasing growth and expansion.

At Founders' Day, Mr. Donald shared these six steps to success:

"You must go where you've never been before, commit to the success of everyone in your organization, encourage risk taking, leverage your front-line selling associates, never be bigger than those front-line associates, and remember to celebrate your success."

Giving back to the community is another step that Mr. Donald takes personally. He serves on the boards of several local institutions such as the Rumson Country Day School, Red Bank YMCA, Monmouth Medical Center, and as acting principal of PS #131 in the Bronx where he shows up on a monthly basis to volunteer and to advocate for the school both on a personal and a professional level.

In a unique move, he has arranged for six Pathmark stores to exist in six local schools in Philadelphia, New Jersey, and New York. Students are encouraged to work in these stores and learn valuable life-skills both as employees and customers plus the stores provide ready access for purchases by students and faculty alike.

CHARLES T. PARTON

Charles Parton is a marathon runner. That one statement may explain some of his extensive background with Monmouth University and why he was selected to receive an honorary Doctor of Public Service degree at the university's recent Founders' Day. He's in it for the long haul.

A member of the Board of Trustees since 1982, Mr. Parton served as chair of that body from 1998 to June 2001 and prior to that as treasurer and chair of its Finance and Budgets Committee and Investment Committee. But as every true runner knows, you don't stand still between races. This financial executive has served as director and president of numerous professional services, foundations, corporations, and banks. A native of Ossining, NY, who now resides in Rumson, Mr. Parton received his BA in Economics at Dartmouth College and his MBA from Rutgers University. He also attended the School of Mortgage Banking conducted by the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

He served as a member of the Board of Overseers appointed by Governor Christine Todd Whitman for the Governors School of New Jersey, as trustee and chair of the board of trustees at Jersey Shore Medical Center and director of its parent company modern Health Affiliates. He has also served as an officer, director or trustee of such varied organizations as the Monmouth Council, Boy Scouts of America, the Advisory board of the Jersey Shore Region of NCCJ (National Conference of Christians and Jews) and as a volunteer for the American Heart Association Monmouth County Charity Walk.

A past president of both the United Way of Monmouth County and the Community YMCA of Red Bank, Mr. Parton has received leadership awards from the Monmouth Council Boy Scouts of America, the Monmouth-Ocean Development Council, NCCJ (Monmouth-Ocean Chapter) and the Eastern Monmouth Area Chamber of Commerce.

He maintains a lifelong commitment to health and competitive athletics and completed four marathons, most recently the New York City Marathon in 2000. He is a four-time winner of the New Jersey Open Platform Tennis Men's Doubles Championship and a past winner of the New Jersey Platform Tennis Senior Men's Doubles Championship. Oh yes, and he enjoys golf!

Of his recent honor from the University, Mr. Parton said, "There has been a major evolution at Monmouth in the last ten years and I'm very grateful to be a part of it. We've all seen a terrific administration move forward."

A turtle is his inspiration. He even gives out coveted Turtle Awards to over 9,000 of his Pathmark employees. "The only way a turtle can move forward," says Mr. Donald, "is by sticking its neck out."

ROBERT M. RECHNITZ

"When I was growing up in Pueblo, Colorado, I never thought I would wind up as a theatrical producer," says the recipient of this year's Maurice Pollak Award for Distinguished Community Service, Robert M. Rechnitz. The retired professor of English and American Literature who taught at Monmouth for more than thirty years combines two of his greatest loves, teaching and theatre, in his current work as Executive Director of Two River Theatre Company in Red Bank.

Dr. Rechnitz is co-founder of the theatre along with his wife, Joan, and his former colleague, Dr. John Burke, current chair of the Monmouth University Theater department.

"John was actually a driving force in my decision to pursue this. It was really an easy move from teaching to the theatre. They are kin to one another" says Dr. Rechnitz.

The theatre's Student Matinee Series provides subsidized low-cost tickets to more than 4,000 area students who have the opportunity to interact with performers and participate in discussions about their experience in the theatre. A new Teacher In-Service training program presents workshops to teachers who can earn up to five units of continuing education credits for their involvement.

Two River Theatre Company is a professional, regional Equity theatre whose mission is to enhance the cultural quality of life of Monmouth and Ocean County residents. For the first three and a half years, productions took place in the 145 seat Lauren K. Woods Theatre on the Monmouth campus. Now, heralded as the region's premier theatre, audiences as large as 500 can enjoy productions which include Arthur Miller's A View from the Bridge, Jean Anouilh's Thieves Carnival, Tennessee Williams' Glass Menagerie and Anton Chekov's Uncle Vanya.

Besides his duties as Executive Director, Dr. Rechnitz is deeply involved in fund-raising for the theatre and applying for grants from foundations and the State of New Jersey. Those responsibilities take on added importance as Two

River conducts negotiations for construction of its own 300-seat theatre to open in the fall of 2003. "Our audience base has leveled off, principally because people say it is far for them to travel to us."

Embarking on its eighth season, Two River continues to be the perfect setting for Dr. Rechnitz' masterful blend of education and theatrical productions.

RONALD KORNEGAY '69 '74

When Ron Kornegay '69 '74 played basketball for then Monmouth College in the late sixties, he wasn't the tallest player on the squad. But that didn't stop the 5'7" athlete from standing head and shoulders above the crowd of players who saw their teammate garner one award after another. Added to an impressive list of athletic awards, Mr. Kornegay added one more at Monmouth University's Founders' Day ceremony where he was named Distinguished Alumni of the Year.

A native of Newark, now living in Neptune, he has always loved basketball. Named to both the Newark and the Shore Athletic Halls of Fame, he was also selected for Monmouth College's Athletic Hall of Fame. Mr. Kornegay was First Team All NAIA All-American, a member of the 1968 NAIA Olympic Team and named to the 2nd team for NCAA Division II All Americans. Included in the 1969 Who's Who in America, Mr. Kornegay was selected for the first team, high school All-State Basketball in New Jersey and in 1965 was named to the Top 100 Basketball Players in America.

Reminiscing about his playing days at Monmouth, Mr. Kornegay said that all the games were significant. "The most notable one was actually my first game as a freshman against St. Peter's College. It was the first game ever played in Boylan Gym and the house was packed. We gave St. Pete's a tremendous upset and that victory was so sweet for us."

Basketball wasn't the only thing on Mr. Kornegay's mind during his years at Monmouth, however. He earned his bachelor degree in Elementary Education and returned to receive his Masters in Education in 1974 and a Master's Certification in Supervision in 1976.

For several years, he worked in Admissions at Monmouth, first as a counselor and later as Director of the Educational Opportunity Fund program. Still, it was never easy and very rare for him to stay away from the slick, hardwood floors of a basketball gym and he supplemented his administrative duties with a long and successful career as assistant and head basketball coach and later assistant athletic director at Monmouth. He moved on to Kean College where he worked as head men's basketball coach as well as physical education instructor and associate athletic director.

And still the awards came. He was named Metropolitan Coach of the Year four years running from 1978 through 1981 and again in 1990 and 1991. A member of the executive board of the New Jersey Basketball Coaches Association and board of directors of New Jersey Youth Coaches Association, Mr. Kornegay was named the New Jersey State Basketball League Coach of the Year for 1990 and 1991 and the Kodak Division III National Coach of the Year in 1991.

Not surprisingly then, Monmouth decided to retire Mr. Kornegay's number, #22. "It was really a special occasion for me after my four years as a player, eight as assistant coach, and ten as head coach. What was really amazing is that my number was the first ever to be retired from the sport of basketball at Monmouth. I was really pleased and honored" says Mr. Kornegay.

The Kornegay family tradition of athletics at Monmouth continues in the person of his daughter, Suraya, who is a freshman member of the cross-country and track team. Mr. Kornegay and his wife have two other children, Rasheen, a graduate of Kean who now teaches in Paterson, and Kamel, a Rowan graduate just embarking on a career in management information systems.

Since 1992, Mr. Kornegay has focused his attention on high school sports, serving as director of athletics at Franklin High School and currently at Manasquan High School.

CLASS OF 2005

BY CATHERINE MOSCARELLO

Careful planning and hard work resulted in an incoming freshman class for the Fall 2001 semester at Monmouth University that was "right on target" according to Miriam King, vice president for Enrollment Management.

The class of 2005 is targeted at about 870. A record-breaking enrollment in the previous year sent the University onto new and creative paths for managing housing, transportation and safety and many of those initiatives have been incorporated into the master plan of the University.

In order to minimize any strain on resources and facilities, the admission process for this year's class was developed according to a deadline system instead of "rolling admissions" used previously. Admission officers closely monitored applications and acceptances based on three chronological points in the recruitment year. The Early Decision deadline was December 1 for students who selected Monmouth University as their first choice and agreed to a binding commitment with MU upon acceptance. Students meeting this requirement received guaranteed housing and parking. The second critical date was December 15 for Early Action applicants. This category includes applicants with a strong desire to enroll at the University and provides housing and parking on a non-guaranteed first-come, first-served basis. Regular Decision applicants had until March 1 to apply, also with no guarantees but first-come, first-served housing and parking.

By this precise plan, both the quantity and quality of the incoming class could be delineated. More than 80% of the class arrived via the Early Decision route with 25% entering as Early Action and over 15% as Regular Decisions.

King was delighted to point out that the academic profile for the class showed marked improvement over last year's stellar performance. SAT scores rose 10 points over last year's average and at 1071 measured 51 points over the national average for entering freshmen. Those students who met regular admission standards boast a GPA of 3.06.

"The profile has increased over an eight-year cycle and although we are not able to go back for comparisons due to recent recentering of SAT scores, it's safe to say that the overall increase amounts to more than 50 points," King said.

Sixteen states from as far away as California, Nebraska and Montana are represented in the new crop of students with all the counties in New Jersey in attendance. Within the class, ninety-three students are athletes and the most popular majors include Business, Communications, Computer Science, Biology, Criminal Justice, Education, and Psychology.

In addition to changes in the manner and timing of admissions, the University also made significant adjustments in its housing plans. About thirty full-time students will study and live in London during the fall semester under a new Study Abroad program in conjunction with Regents' College in London. Further, the University rented and operates, under the aegis of the Residential Life staff, apartments housing sixty additional students.

Homeowners and landlords offering student rentals provided information to the clearinghouse centered in the new Office of Commuter Student Services. Another 149 students inhabit the Esplanade Hotel, a former Ramada Inn that the University incorporated into its residential life system in the academic year 2000-2001.

All freshman continue to be placed in on-campus housing, including the three new residence halls constructed by the University in the last eight years. More students desire on-campus housing each year and plans about how to handle this increase occupy the thoughts of University administrators.

A shuttle system developed last year to transport students from off-campus housing has been expanded to include transport from several off-campus locations, including the train stations in Elberon and Long Branch, to all campus facilities. There is also shuttle service from the North and South campuses to assure the safe and quick conveyance of students around the campus' heavy traffic.

Continuing a trend in source schools for the almost 300 transfer students, one-third enter Monmouth from neighboring Brookdale Community College and to a lesser degree from Ocean County College or other community colleges throughout the state. Monmouth maintains articulation agreements with Brookdale and Ocean County, allowing admission preference to students meeting stringent requirements from the feeder institutions. The majority of transfers, however, are those students who may have spent one or two years at other four-year colleges and out-of-state students who "come home" to complete their degrees at Monmouth. The most popular majors selected by transfer students are Business, Communications, Psychology, and Education.

Graduate students are also swelling the ranks of the campus population with admissions levels rising by more than 100 students over last year's total. New graduate certificate programs and growth in current graduate programs account for an increase of 18% in graduate student applications. Marked increases showed in Education, History, Liberal Studies, and Nursing. Unlike the undergraduate population, ninety-five percent of graduate students live in New Jersey with the majority in the three surrounding counties of Monmouth, Ocean, and Middlesex.

Looking to the future, King says enrollment goals for the fall of 2002 "must still be finalized. Confirmation of our objectives is part of the strategic planning process at the University."

Undoubtedly, more careful work and planning are destined to bring enhanced selectivity to future classes at Monmouth.

If Endowments be the FOOD OF LOVE

BY TOVA NAVARRA

Amazing how, when you become aware of something you didn't really know much about before, it jumps out at you from the oddest places. Like a probably all but ignored line in The Godfather, Part II spoken by the character Senator Geary of Nevada. At the First Communion party for Michael Corleone's son, the senator gets up on stage and announces that the Corleone family has given a snappy sum for a state university scholarship endowment.

The truth is, endowment ought to jump out at you from a familiar place, namely Monmouth University, but because too many people don't know much about it, creating awareness is in order. Few realize that the endowment idea started with Plato more than 2,300 years ago when he wanted to perpetuate his academy. Endowment is not only the key word but the actual key to a happy, healthy university, not unlike what Plato had in mind. He bequeathed a farm to his nephew with instructions to use the proceeds from the fields to benefit students and teachers. In 150 BC, the Romans further developed the concept by forming a self-perpetuating corporation, complete with trustees who governed endowments on behalf of an organization. Today, endowment is a word all universities love to thrive on—sort of like food. Endowments provide nourishment in a very real way so an institution of higher education can grow up to be strong and independent.

"There are some people who feel endowment is the most important fundraising effort," said Dennis C. Macro, Monmouth University's vice president for Institutional Advancement. "It's a nice thought because it does help the long-term perspective of the University. Endowment is on-going. We're always going to be raising funds for endowments. The larger the endowment, the less the University has to depend upon tuition to survive from year to year. We're in excellent financial condition, but we are tuition-driven at this point, and would like to increase the endowment fund. That would also help boost the University's bond rating."

While outright gifts to the University are more than welcome and wonderful, an endowment is literally the gift that keeps on giving.

"The great thing about endowment is its perpetuity," Macro emphasized, "whereas other gifts are spent and gone. An endowment scholarship, for example, exists for the life of the university. So if a person wants to honor his or her parents, an endowment in their name is always there."

Some have gone so far as to refer to endowment as the "Holy Grail of development," quite possibly because endowment allows for a consistent, coherent way of giving—an endless supper, if you will, one served and sampled with great pleasure.

"Endowment is an enrichment that's more than a dollar sign," said Georgina West, senior development officer in the Office of Institutional Advancement. "It's not the sum of the endowment that's so important, but rather what the endowment will do for people's lives. It allows more flexibility to adequately and positively affect the education of students. Having had the opportunity to observe fairly closely the endowments of other institutions and the growth of those endowments, it's exciting to see the impact they've had. They create all sorts of possibilities and enable an institution to be more responsive to the events happening within its area, the economic climate, and the particular needs of the faculty and student population."

Macro pointed out that one way for Monmouth University to become one of the best regional institutions and reflect its financial strength is to increase its endowment. Like having a well-stocked pantry, Harvard has more than $20 billion as endowment — part of the reason the school can sponsor so many research programs and other highly respected academic endeavors. Currently, the Monmouth University endowment is about $35 million, Macro said, and hopes are for increasing it to $100 million, or an amount that reflects one year's operating budget.

"Some circles say the principal of an endowment should be 10 times that, or $1 billion," he said, "because of the way endowments work. Endowment for the most part is untouched and invested. There are two kinds of endowment. One is true endowment, the kind people give as a gift and we invest without touching the principal, and the other is money put in by the Board of Trustees, funds that function as endowment. In the case of the Board-established endowments, a portion of the interest earned is used in the operating budget. The balance of the earned interest is added to the principal. As a young teaching university, we are heavily tuition-driven, which means a vast majority of our income stems from tuition."

There's a relationship between the quality and health of an institution and its endowment, of course. For example, $100 million could produce about $5 million to put back into the endowment fund, but $35 million means a much lower yield. So it's important for us to attract all forms of endowment, including chairs and scholarships, which are among the most significant and popular."

As Johns Hopkins University writer and editor Donna Shoemaker put it, "In supporting occasional capital projects but especially the 'ships' designed to sail on forever — professorships, scholarships, lectureships, and fellowships — a healthy endowment guides institutions through rough seas... It takes institutional discipline to build endowment."

"There are people who won't give a dime for a building, but will support a scholarship," Macro added. "Charitable trust principals come to the University in the event of the death of a funder or a funder's spouse, or someone who loved their years and experiences at Monmouth and wishes to bequeath a gift to honor those sentiments. The minimum scholarship endowment is $50,000, or one may give $15,000 for a library-book endowment. Cash gifts are good, too. Gifts not designated for endowment can be used in their entirety in the year they are given to provide scholarships or fund programs. However, when the amount of the gift is depleted, the scholarships and programs funded by it will cease.

Spreading the word about the possibilities for endowment is paramount. Norman B. Buckman, first vice-president at Prudential Securities, Inc., in Spring

Lake and Monmouth University Trustee, spoke enthusiastically of developing a "sensitivity to being charitably inclined."

"I'm not a Monmouth alumnus," Buckman said, "but I got involved helping Monmouth University raise funds to support the great gift of education. About five years ago, I established the Mary Buckman Endowed Nursing Scholarship in honor of my mother. Before she passed away two years ago, she became fast friends with several of the recipients of the endowment. You need to meet and talk with some of the recipients of scholarship money to see what a difference it's made in their lives. To hear their stories and to know you contributed is extremely rewarding. There aren't many ways to make that kind of difference.

"It's nice to see those grateful smiles while you're still able to enjoy it," he added. "At the annual scholarship tea, donors meet recipients. It's particularly fun for me. I met 21 recipients of various scholarships last year. One nurse who was a single mother with several children wanted very much to finish her master's degree to become a nurse practitioner. I like knowing she will ultimately make more money to support her family. I'm very high on endowment and scholarship. I don't think anything I've ever done has been more rewarding."

Endowment is an enrichment that's more than a dollar sign. It's not the sum that's so important, but rather what the endowment will do for people's lives. It's exciting to see the impact.

How to attract more Norman Buckmans?

According to a professional institutional advancement source, "An endowment marketing plan requires the following efforts: identify your primary audiences who might be interested in endowment (alumni, parents, friends, corporations, foundations); develop an endowment case statement or endowment promotional brochure as a primary sales tool; report continuously on how endowment income is impacting your institution; design a program of targeted direct mail focusing on endowment priorities and current and planned giving opportunities; feature endowment opportunities in major publications; feature donors who establish endowments and secure their testimonials; create a specific presence on the institution's website that outlines endowment priorities and ways to give; visit donors in person to explore their knowledge of endowments and interest in establishing endowments; provide interested donors with proposals on how to establish an endowment."

Vastly easier said than done, mind you. Accomplishing all this metaphorically translates into coaxing the entire cast of "Ben-Hur" to a sit-down dinner, but the effort is well worth it. Plato would probably also tell you, as does the professional source, "Constant attention must be given to promoting the need for endowment growth linked to the purposes for such endowments."

One West Coast university athletic department came up with the controversial, but nonetheless successful, idea of gaining endowed positions on the football team. A donor could endow any team position, enjoy the hell out of seeing his name attached to that position everywhere (imagine something like "The J. Q. Public Tight End!"), get a tax break, and sit on the 50-yard line at each game. If nothing else, it proves that creative campaigning pays off.

Some have gone so far as to refer to endowment as the "Holy Grail of development," quite possibly because endowment allows for a consistent, coherent way of giving — an endless supper, if you will, one served and sampled with great pleasure. MU

The great thing about endowment is its perpetuity, whereas other gifts are spent and gone. An endowment scholarship, for example, exists for the life of the university. So if a person wants to honor his or her parents, an endowment in their name is always there.

Alumni survey

FOR CAREER DEVELOPMENT

Name & Class Year:

In times of economic uncertainty, when layoffs and hiring freezes are harsh realities, a strong alumni network of career volunteers can make a huge difference within our alumni community. Responses to this survey will help our students to prepare for their careers and fellow alumni make connections as they search for a new job or, perhaps, a new field. Please lend a helping hand. Complete this survey and mail it to the alumni office without delay. If you have already provided career information and your situation has changed, please let the alumni office know or redo the survey. Thank you.

1. What is your current career position? (title required, company name optional) _____
2. Describe what you do in a typical workday. _____
3. How long have you had this position? _____
4. How did you obtain this position? _____
5. What was your major and year you graduated from Monmouth? _____
6. What was your first position after graduation? _____
7. While studying at Monmouth, did you work in a related field or participate in an internship, co-op, volunteer, or experiential learning position? If so, how did you benefit from the experience? _____

8. What was your biggest "surprise" about work? _____

9. What was your most significant experience while you were at Monmouth University? _____

10. What advice would you offer to today's Monmouth University student? _____

If you are willing to correspond with students or alumni about your career experiences through e-mail, please provide your e-mail address in the following space: _____

If you are willing to receive phone calls at home or at work from students or alumni interested in your career field, provide one or both numbers in the following spaces: Home: (____) _____ Work: (____) _____

VISION SOCIETY

Every University has a select group of contributors who have demonstrated exceptional pride and commitment to philanthropy. Members of Monmouth University's "Vision Society," whose lifetime giving begins at $100,000, are no exception. Their generous support is a source of encouragement and inspiration to us all as we go forth and realize our vision as a "University of Regional Distinction." The University is especially honored to recognize their commitment and desire to truly make a difference. For all they do and give, they have our deep, heartfelt gratitude.

LARCHWOOD CLUB

It is with great pleasure that the University recognize annual gifts of $500 to $999 that entitles contributors as members of the Larchwood Club. Monmouth University is highly productive, efficient and respected in the community. All gifts help us prepare the next generation of Monmouth students to be a productive asset to all communities. (Please note that this leadership club was formerly "The Monmouth Associates.")

ATHLETICS BLUE/ WHITE CLUB

The Blue/White Club, founded in 1999, specifically recognizes gifts in support of Monmouth University athletics. The resources contributed help defray the rising costs of operating a Division I athletics program. Blue/White members help ensure that our student athletes have access to state-of-the-art facilities and equipment to meet their academic and athletic goals.

FACULTY, STAFF & ADMINISTRATORS

No enterprise can survive without the highest level of commitment from its most important internal community; its employees. Monmouth University is no exception. In addition to their outstanding dedication to the University and its students, as demonstrated by their professionalism, insistence on quality, and spirit of cooperation, many in Monmouth's family of faculty, staff and administrators have made personal contributions in support of the University. Monmouth University is proud to recognize the meaningful commitments made by so many members of its own "family."

PARENTS' FUND

Monmouth University parents play an active role in ensuring that the quality of education, cultural, and recreational opportunities available on campus continue to meet their children's needs and expectations. Accordingly, they have responded generously to the University's Parents' Fund appeals. We are pleased to recognize those parents who participated in the 2000-2001 Parents' Fund.

SCHOLARSHIPS

Establishing a scholarship is one way to give a gift to the University that directly impacts a student's ability to receive the quality education Monmouth University provides. Scholarships are wonderful vehicles for individuals or organizations to honor a loved one or to create a legacy that ensures the donor's generosity will be remembered in the years to come. Donors are able to select either sponsored scholarships, to be renewed annually, or an endowed scholarship, which requires a minimum gift of $50,000 to establish. It is through the generosity of the donors creating or continuing to support the scholarship programs that the University was able to award grants to deserving students for this academic year. We would like to recognize the support and caring of the donors and acknowledge the creation of the following scholarships this year.

ICFNJ Coca – Cola First Generation Scholarship
 Taiyeb & Amta Mama International Social Work Fellowship
 Linda L. Piff, Esq. '84 Scholarship for Female Track Athletes
 Steven J. '73 & Elaine Pozycki

Endowed Scholarship
 J. William Proctor Scholarship Fund
 Dr. Robert S. Rouse Memorial Scholarship

SHADOW LAWN HERITAGE SOCIETY

The Shadow Lawn Heritage Society comprises individuals who share a common concern for the long-term stability of the University and its educational mission. These men and women have included Monmouth in their estate plans, and we are proud to recognize their foresight and commitment to the future.

MATCHING GIFT COMPANIES

Corporate matching gift programs offer a unique opportunity to employees who contribute financially to Monmouth University. Companies offering these programs will match the gifts of employees dollar-for-dollar up to prescribed limits. That can increase the impact of contributions by 100% or more. The existence of matching gift programs is a tribute to the supportive spirit of the corporate community for higher education. Monmouth University gratefully acknowledges the following companies as well as the initiative of the individual employee-donor whose gifts to the University were matched.

VOLUNTEERS

Volunteers are one of the University's greatest resources. These friends, trustees, parents, alumni, and other neighbors willingly share their time and talents to generate good will, to raise needed funds, to stage events, and to further enhance the University's already notable reputation. Monmouth gratefully acknowledges the inspiration, creativity, generosity, and enthusiasm of those listed here. All of them have helped make a difference.

In spite of extensive efforts to avoid errors and omissions in this year's honor roll of contributors, mistakes can occur. If your name was omitted, listed incorrectly, or misspelled, please notify us of the error. Also, gifts received after June 30, 2001, the conclusion of our fiscal year, will be included in the subsequent year's annual report.

THE OBLIGATION OF STEWARDSHIP

AS A REMINDER OF OUR OBLIGATION TO EFFECTIVELY STEWARD CONTRIBUTIONS MADE TO MONMOUTH UNIVERSITY, THE UNIVERSITY ADHERES TO THE FOLLOWING GUIDELINES:

All gifts will be acknowledged in a timely and personal manner.

A contribution accepted with a restricted purpose must be used for that purpose.

If the University finds itself unable to utilize a contribution for its stated purpose, this will be communicated with the donor so that an alternative usage can be arranged or the contribution returned.

Whenever feasible, and especially with endowment gifts, annual "impact" reports will be given to the donor.

Proper recognition should always be given to the benefactor...public recognition must be approved by the donor.

The value of any "substantial" benefits as a result of contributions must be reported to each contributor.

Contributions will be accounted for using universally-accepted accounting standards, allowing for maximum efficiency and productivity of each gift.

AGAIN, WE THANK YOU FOR YOUR FAITHFUL SUPPORT OF MONMOUTH UNIVERSITY.

Benefits for Monmouth Faculty and Students and the Real Estate Industry

"Monmouth has taken a leadership position in real estate that is unique to higher education in New Jersey. There aren't any programs like this at any other university in the state. As the real estate industry becomes more complex and New Jersey's markets more sophisticated, it will take a program like the one at Monmouth to educate the future leaders in this industry..."

"I would like to see the program expanded so that it has an even greater impact on students. The industry moves quickly and is subject to change. There are only a few colleges/universities that provide students with the tools to learn about the complexities of this industry and how to manage the changes."

"I feel Monmouth's program will provide an educational opportunity to help students learn about the technical details and enable them to make the right decisions regarding careers in this field. If this energy that I feel for my chosen profession could be brought to students in the program, then I would feel that I contributed to the future of the real estate industry."

Steven J. Pozycki '73
President, SJP Properties, Parsippany, New Jersey
1996 recipient of the Monmouth University
Real Estate Leadership Excellence Award
Member, Monmouth Real Estate Board.

MR. POZYCKI RECENTLY ESTABLISHED THE STEVEN J. AND ELAINE POZYCKI ENDOWED PROFESSORSHIP IN REAL ESTATE AND AN ENDOWED SCHOLARSHIP FOR BUSINESS STUDENTS.
